The image shows two Chinese characters with numbered arrows indicating the correct stroke order for writing them. The character '木' (mù, tree) is shown with three strokes: a vertical line down (1), a horizontal line across the middle (2), and a diagonal line from the top-left to the middle (3). The character '切' (qiē, cut) is shown with four strokes: a vertical line down (1), a horizontal line across the middle (2), a diagonal line from the top-left to the middle (3), and a diagonal line from the top-right to the middle (4).
